I have just seen this notice, and I could not ignore it! So, last summer my mother and I took a trip to my grandma who lives in such an amazing city like Sochi! By the way, my mom and I live in Khabarovsk. Although we live so far away from each other, my mom decided to go by a train. My mom said that she really afraid of planes... It was the most disgusting thing in our trip because our trip take as many as two weeks. And my first recommendation for you travellers is not to afraid of planes.

Surprisingly enough, when we finally reached the city and the hotel I was amazed really much! The hotel turned out to be a ~~big~~ ^{nice} house but it looked like an old castle so I liked this place immediately! There also was a nice beach nearby. So, my second recommendation is to rent a room next to the beach. In addition, I met quite a few new friends so spending time there was much more fun! I was swimming and talking to them each day I was there. To be perfectly honest, these days were the best in my life!

Generally speaking, there was the only thing I didn't like at all. We were resting there only for a few days so my last recommendation is to rest as much as possible!
